Access2Technology

A2T.biz is an association of professionals already running successful businesses in the Access Technology market sector. Access Technology refers to all aspects of accessibility for people with disabilities who use digital technology.

We are not a charity because we recognise that the Access Technology sector is well established and offers excellent opportunities for people with disabilities to operate and run a business without the need for charitable subsidy. Although A2T has a majority of members with a disability, we do not limit members only to those with disabilities. A2T recognises the skills and resources of all those working in this sector. A2T is however an association of small businesses ranging from 1 to 10 employees.

What can A2T offer?

The group pools the skills and resources of its members and covers a large geographical area of the UK. At present it concentrates on Access Technology for people with visual disabilities. Over the whole UK it offers:

- Training on Access Technology, mainstream business and internet applications
- Supply of Access Technology software and hardware
- Supply of Digital & It equipment
- Consultancy and advice in Access Technology
- Assessments of need for Access and mainstream technology in employment and private purposes

A2T Network group

A2T is a network group and as such invites others in this market sector to join the association.

Network Group Main Purposes

A2T offers small businesses in the Access Technology market sector:

- Self help and business development
- A voice with larger organisations, charities, larger businesses and government
- Development of standards of training and consultancy within the market sector
